I've made things by hand my whole life — trained at the easel, type and color and composition sweated until a single frame holds the whole idea. Seven years a brand designer in healthcare, and the kind of maker who lets the newest tools pull up beside the brushes: I build my own AI now rather than wait for someone to hand me one. Give me a blank brief and I'll carry the one idea through every medium it asks for — print, film, motion, 3D, screen, the room itself — until it ships.

EXPERIENCE

Brand Designer → AI Transformation Lead Bayer Consumer Health · Whippany, NJ

MAY 2019 — PRESENT

- Lead creative from brief to launch across a 115-person global product organization — concepting the idea, art-directing the look, driving it through to channel-ready execution. The job is to take one thought and make it land everywhere: pack, film, social, web, retail. Across six years, the work I've shipped has driven $100M+ in product revenue.
- Led brand identity and packaging for MiraFIBER and MiraFAST — the two products driving 54% of MiraLAX's retail growth and 81% YoY combined growth. Recreated the logo to read at shelf and built a modular design system, inception to design-lock in three weeks. $48M in sales, $67M projected — 3rd fastest-scaling launch. ↗ SEE IT
- Led the One A Day brand platform across 50+ SKUs and every channel — Amazon, Walmart, Target, retail, digital, social — directing Mertz and Assembly agency partners. Includes the Age Factor launch (key visual, retail trays/blades, social campaign) and the full digital shelf: product photography, 700+ renders, and Amazon A+ pages. ↗ SEE IT
- Designed Iberogast's launch end to end — responsive brand site, mobile, and retail merchandising — one identity from hero image to add-to-cart. ↗ SEE IT
- Work side by side with marketing, copywriters, filmmakers, and producers — holding the through-line so one idea stays whole across channels, markets, and a hundred deliverables. Present and defend the work to senior stakeholders.
- Since 2024, I've led AI transformation for PX — running it in 90-day sprints with a six-person team across research, design, and packaging: we build shared AI infrastructure and ship working experiments to pilot users each cycle. Player-coach — I set the direction and build the tools.

Selected craft · commercial + personal — the full multidisciplinary range

- Posters & illustration — type, color, and composition sweated until a single frame carries the whole idea; digital painting and vector illustration alongside it. ↗ SEE IT
- 3D & motion — I'd rather build a scene and light it than fake depth on a flat canvas: I model, light, and move the camera, art-directing in space before a single frame is locked. Launch films, social motion, particle/physics renders, and stage-opener animation — thinking in form and movement, not just static frames. ↗ SEE IT
- Experiences — the BOLD Breakthrough Tour — one idea taken across every medium it needed: identity → 3D → motion → live stage → merch, run three consecutive years for a 200+-attendee event on a single design system. Also art-directed Bayer's NACDS trade-show booth, multiple years. ↗ SEE IT

AI AS A CREATIVE MEDIUM

I don't just use AI — I build with it. I designed and built a node-based generative pipeline (React Flow) I coded with Claude and wired to Gemini Nano Banana for image generation — because designers don't think in prompts, they think in steps, so I built the tool around composition: reference in, brand-rules check, generate, channel-fit, output. It's produced real channel work across digital and print. Beyond it, I explore generatively across product visualization, storyboarding, and micro-cellular science visuals, and taught the practice to my team in a talk, "AI for Designers." AI is just the newest material on my bench. ↗ SEE IT
